DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Muraki et al. (US 5,864,142).

Muraki et al. have the semiconductor manufacturing method as claimed. See Fig.13.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1 – 9, 11 – 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Muraki et al. (US 5,864,142) in view of Akutsu et al. (US 5,717,482).

Muraki et al. has the basic apparatus comprising a plural electron beam exposure apparatus, shown in Fig. 1 having a Θ Z stage 11 and x-y stage 12. The details of the component used to drive the stage are not disclosed. Akutsu et al. discloses a substrate stage assembly 100 that may be used with the Muraki et al. apparatus. The Akutsu et al. assembly has a substrate stage comprising a tilt stage and an x-y stage supported on the z or tilt stage. Fig. 1 discloses substrate (wafer 3), tilt stage 1, x-y stage 6, z linear motors 5 comprising, 5a, 5b form the electromagnetic actuators enabling the substrate to be moved with six degrees of freedom. The figure shows a stator (coil) and magnet (movable member) arrangement as claimed by the applicant with the movable element fixed on the substrate stage and the stator fixed on the transfer stage.

7. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Muraki et al. (US 5864,142) in view of Akutsu et al. (US 5,717,482).

The combination does not disclose the use of a magnetic shield. One of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would be motivated to use a magnetic shielding means to prevent any adverse reaction to other components or other features of the apparatus that might be caused by the electromagnetic field.
